What Are You Waiting For?

Blessed are those servants whom the master finds vigilant on his arrival.
Luke 12:35

Jesus encourages us to be vigilant, that is, to be alert and attentive. For what? For the Master (Jesus himself) who is coming. Jesus comes not merely at the end of time. He comes into our daily life now – in many different ways. He comes through the beauty of colored leaves, the kindness of a stranger, a neighbor's need, a child's smile, a particular Scripture verse, a disturbing news headline, a health issue. If we are attentive to these comings, we are truly "blessed."

What does blessed mean? Many times, it is translated as "happy." "You're lucky because you're on the right path!" In other words, your vigilance is leading you in the right direction, homeward to God.

In what ways has Jesus the Master come into your life lately? In what ways are you blessed?

"Dear Jesus, as I spend time with you during Eucharistic Adoration, let me recognize the many ways in which I am "blessed". During these times of unrest and uncertainty, let me REST in knowing you are in control...this I know for CERTAIN!"
